ABOUT THE PROPERTY: SELLER'S HIGHLIGHTS

Over 51 years of living in our 135 year-old, two-storey, farm house we have undertaken many modernization updates. It is now a spacious, brightly-lit and very comfortable, high ceiling home. The house has three bedrooms, two bathrooms, a dining room, a family room, an extra large kitchen, a solarium, an indoor greenhouse and two utility rooms. All house windows have been upgraded to triple-glazed windows.

The house and property have many energy-reduction features. House heating and cooling is primarily achieved by an air-to-air heat pump. In addition, there are two propane parlour stoves on the main floor and each room of the house has an electric baseboard heater to augment heating requirements when temperatures are below -10 degrees C. An 11 kilowatt, propane powered standby generator, hardwired into the home's 200 amp electrical service panel, provides required electricity during grid outages, to maintain all household and gardening needs,

Household and gardens' irrigation needs are provided by three wells on the property: two are 20-foot deep dug wells and the third is a 170-foot deep drilled well. The water pump and hot water tank are located in the cellar under the kitchen.

The separate one and a half storey, two-car garage has a 220 volt EV-charging port. The upper level features a semi-finished upstairs room (suitable for guest accommodations) and a large storage room. There is also a temperature-controlled root-vegetable storage room in the lower part of the garage.

In 2009 we installed a 42 ground-mounted solar panel system which is connected to the electricity grid. Over the last 15 years we've received around $9,000 per year for the electricity provided to the electrical grid. The contract with Ontario Hydro is transferable to the new property owner.

In 2005, after many years of including a focus on native plants in our many garden beds, the property received Wildlife Backyard Habitat certification by the Canadian Wildlife Federation (<https://cwf-fcf.org/en/explore/gardening-for-wildlife/action/get-certified/>) and Monarch Waystation registration (<https://www.monarchwatch.org/waystations/>).

Garden-lovers will appreciate a unique 2010 evaluation of our property. Rogers TV undertook an Ottawa-focused private garden evaluation project in which our property, featuring 32 ornamental flower garden beds and 10 vegetable beds, received the honour of being the Third-Best garden in Ottawa! (The Governor-General's property was deemed to have Ottawa's Best Garden and the Second-Best property went to a very unique small Ottawa property.)
